FRANKIE crawls through a dog door. She walks into the room where the TV is on loud.

DEAN PERIERA, 30 years old, hefty, sleeps in a lazyboy.

FRANKIE (HUSHED)

Daddydaddydaddy.

Frankie uses the footrest to crawl up onto her dad's belly.

FRANKIE (CONT'D)

Wake up Daddy.

DEAN (WAKING)

What time is it baby?

She snuffles. He notices.

EXT. PERIERA HOME - BACK/FRONT YARDS - PRESENT DAY

The

The back door opens and Dean carries Frankie to the yard. first yellow rays of sunlight hit their faces.

He looks over the lawn, an empty bowl, water tin and a doghouse posting the name MEGAN. He peeks inside the doghouse. There's no one home. Dean moves to the fence. The gate is open.

Dean carries Frankie to the front yard. They look around.

FRANKIE

When's she going to get back?

DEAN

She probably just went out for a run. She'll be back soon because she's going to get thirsty.

FRANKIE

She's going to be thirsty?

DEAN

You know what we should do? We should leave her bowl full of water and her dish full of food. Because she's gotta get hungry and thirsty sometime. You know?

Dean's optimism is infectious. Frankie nods slowly.

DEAN (CONT'D)

Like me. I'm hungry. I'm so hungry I could eat your toes.

Dean pretends to gnaw at Frankie's toes. Breaks her sadness.

INT. PERIERA HOME - BEDROOM - 6:12AM - PRESENT DAY

CINDY PERIERA, 28, sleeps in bed. Sunlight spills through translucent yellow curtains into a small master bedroom.

Dean sets Frankie down on the bed, motions to her to be silent. He sniffs the air. She follows. They eye each other and pounce. Cindy wakes up with a gasp.

CINDY

I'm sleeping!

DEAN

We're hungry! We're going to eat you.

They pin her arms above her head and 'furber' her armpit.

Don't laugh. Come on, don't laugh!

Cindy doesn't laugh, she screams.

C'mon, eat, you can't be late today.

Frankie takes a tiny bite and makes a sour face.

FRANKIE

I don't like it...

Cindy turns on the faucet over a pile of dishes, returns to the computer to e-mail herself the missing dog flyer.

DEAN

Here... we can make it taste better.

Dean spoons the raisins out of her bowl onto the table.

DEAN (CONT'D)

This is how a leopard eats.

He laps up his coffee like a cat. She mimics. Dean laughs.

CINDY

Come on Frankie, use a spoon. You know how to use a spoon.

FRANKIE

Lepers don't use spoons.

DEAN (WHISPERS)

Are you gonna listen to your mother? I think you better.

Frankie reluctantly takes a tiny bite. Her face sours and she lets the food fall out of her mouth and back in the bowl. Cindy returns to the dishes.

DEAN (CONT'D)

How old are you?

FRANKIE

Five.

DEAN

Okay, eat five bites.

Dean gets up, goes to Cindy at the sink.

DEAN (CONT'D)

We gotta get a dishwasher...

Tries to take the dish sponge away from her. She resists.

Frankie! We're leaving in 15. Eat!

Frankie ignores her.

Alright...

She pulls Frankie out of her seat and carries her under one arm to the back room. Frankie protests.

Dean watches, shakes his head. He sees the computer on, Cindy's e-mail is still open. He shuts off the running water.

He scans through messages from a bunch of names of people Dean doesn't know. He sweats, clicks open a return message from a real estate company - apartment now available.

INT. PERIERA HOME - BATHROOM - MORNING

She starts to back up.

DEAN (CONT'D)

C'mon. What's the big deal?

Cindy does as she's told, looks over her shoulder, scrapes the curb.

DEAN (CONT'D)

Watch...

Cindy cranks the wheel straight, puts on the gas and burns down the road.

Dean stands there in his driveway, muttering to himself. He watches the car disappear down the street.

Another car, headed the opposite direction, barrels down the road, past the Periera home.

DEAN (CONT'D)

Slow that piece of shit down!

INT. CLINIC - DAY - PRESENT DAY

Dean walks through the lobby and approaches Mimi at the reception desk. He drops his baggage.

MIMI

(ON PHONE)

Ma'am you're going to have to bring him in...you have to bring him in...

DEAN

Where's my wife?

She hands him an in-patient form. Dean looks at it.

DEAN (CONT'D)

I'm not sick.

Mimi cups her hand over the phone.

MIMI

You need to fill that out, sir. You can go over there.

Mimi returns to the phone.

DEAN

There's nothing wrong with me.

Dean hands her back the clipboard.

MIMI

No, you need to fill it out, sir. Bring it back up to me when you're done.

DEAN

Where's my wife?

Mimi lowers the phone.

MIMI

Who's your wife?

DEAN

Cynthia. Where is she?

She puts the phone on hold and disappears into the clinic. Dean turns around and looks at the people in the waiting room. He has a slight confrontation with a gang banger.

Cindy approaches from the hallway.

CINDY

Dean?

DEAN (TURNS)

Saved you a trip.

CINDY

I can see that. How'd you get here?

DEAN

I got a ride.

Mimi appears behind Cindy.

DEAN (CONT'D)

- I was going out of my mind. I didn't know if there's an emergency. I didn't know if Francis was hurt. Did you think about that?

CINDY

Frankie's fine...

Dean nods. He looks over Cindy's shoulder at Mimi.

DEAN

Taking pictures?

Mimi sits down at her desk and picks up a ringing phone.

CINDY

We're not going to do this here.

Cindy crosses the counter, grabs the bags by Dean's feet.

Give me a few minutes.

Cindy hurls the bags into the back of the car. Dean helps.

DEAN (CONT'D)

Please don't make me be alone.

CINDY

Are you drunk?

DEAN

I'm OK.

CINDY

Can you drive?

DEAN

Yeah. Let's go.

CINDY

No, you go. Take the car home.

She hands him the keys.
