HONG KONG - AN OUTDOOR MARKETPLACE

Crowded. Filled with oriental and British merchants. You can buy anything here. Electronics. Food. Anything.

RAND PELTZER

walks through the crowd. An American businessman. He wears a tasteful grey suit. He's thin, with distinguished good looks and thin brown hair. He's 56 years old. Rand looks around; fascinated by the vast array of people and merchandise. He stops at a booth. A tiny ORIENTAL, WOMAN stands behind the counter. Rand gives her a polite smile.

RAND

Hi. I'm from out of town...
on business from the U.S.
The woman nods and smiles.

AN ORIENTAL MAN

passes by. He is very old. Deep wrinkles. Long white hair. Ragged clothes. A rotted smile. Overhearing Rand, the man stops to eavesdrop.

RAND

(explaining to Oriental woman)
I'm looking for a present...
for my son.
The woman nods. She searches through her wares. She holds up a basketball. Rand shakes his head.

RAND

He's not really involved in sports...
The woman puts away the basketball. She picks up a Sony "Walkman". Rand again shakes his head.,

RAND

No. I want something unusual...

something he can't get at home...
something different..

.2.

A HAND

reaches out and grabs Rand's arm. Startled, he turns.
The Oriental man stands before him. He stares into Rand's eyes.

ORIENTAL MAN

I can help you.
He leads Rand away from the booth.

ORIENTAL MAN

I offer something very different.
Very unusual.
Rand is puzzled. The Oriental leads him to a doorway.

ORIENTAL MAN

Follow me.
He opens the door, motioning for Rand to follow. Rand pauses, skeptical.

ORIENTAL MAN

Come. Take a look. It will cost you nothing.
(a beat)
You won't be disappointed.
The Oriental enters. Rand shrugs and follows.

INSIDE

Rand follows the man up a narrow, dark set of stairs.
At the top, they enter a room.

INT. ROOM

Dark. No windows. No furniture. Filled with cardboard boxes and wooden crates.
Rand crinkles his nose. It smells bad in here.
The Oriental flips on a dim light bulb. He leads the nervous, apprehensive Rand to a dark corner of the room. The Oriental picks up a small, metal box. A HIGH PITCHED GIGGLE echoes from inside the box.

3.

Rand is very puzzled.

The Oriental rests the box on a stack of crates. He opens the box.

A TINY CREATURE is inside'.

The animal is eleven inches tall and stands; upright on two legs. It has two arms, with small; four-fingered hands. Its body is covered with fluffy brown fur. The piercing eyes are big, sad. Its ears are long and pointed. A tiny black nose sits above a wide mouth, with small, square teeth.

The creature is smiling. It lets out a giggle.

Rand is delighted and surprised. He's never seen anything like this. The animal is more charming than a Disney character.

The Oriental claps his hands.

The creature leaps from the box, onto Rand's shoulder.

The animal licks Rand's cheek.' He laughs, amused by the creature.

The Oriental claps his hands again.

The creature hops back into the box. It stares at Rand with those cute green eyes'.

RAND

(to the Oriental)

What is it?

ORIENTAL MAN

It is called ' Mogwai ' .

(a beat)

A very rare and intelligent animal.

I found it in the fields near my home It will obey all orders.

It learns fast.

The Oriental looks at Mogwai and claps his hands.

He takes the fish. Mogwai hops back into the box.

Rand shakes his head. Amazed by the animal.

he Oriental takes a bit from the raw fish. Juice runs down his chin. He smiles at Rand.

ORIENTAL MAN

And if you are ever in need of a song...

He claps his hands to the creature.

Mogwai begins to hum, in an unearthly falsetto. It's beautiful.

Rand watches with wide eyes. He feels like a child again.

RAND -

ORIENTAL MAN

One hundred American Dollars.

Cash.

Rand removes five twenties from his wallet. He gives them to the man.

The Oriental smiles and claps his hands. Mogwai jumps onto Rand's shoulders. Rand pets it. Mogwai emits a cute giggle.

ORIENTAL MAN

It never sleeps. It will eat anything... but prefers raw meat.

(PAUSE)

It must always be kept indoors during the day. It lives in shadow. It hates bright light. Direct sunlight will kill it.

Rand nods. He takes Mogwai from his shoulder and puts it into the box. Rand puts the box under his arm. The Oriental smiles

ORIENTAL MAN

Your son will enjoy his new friend.
Rand smiles and exits. The Oriental takes a bite from his raw fish.

is definite. MmmHm. My plane leaves in twenty minutes. See you in Pennsylvania.
He hangs up. He picks up his bags and walks to the check-in counter.

THE CHECK-IN GIRL

tags Mogwai's box and puts it on the conveyer belt.
Rand watches the box disappear through the baggage chute.

CHECK-IN GIRL

Don't worry, sir. Your pet will be safe.
Rand smiles.

Billy rubs his eyes. Tense. Embarrassed.
Everyone watches the scene. Tracy. Gary. The customers.

ROLAND FRESCO

the bank's Vice President, walks over to Billy and Mrs. Deagle. Roland is tall, slender with thin grey hair and a pencil thin moustache. Friendliness and courtesy are his job. He smiles at Mrs. Deagle.

ROLAND

What seems to be the problem, M'am?

MRS. DEAGLE

My name is Mrs. Julia Deagle. This young teller is being very rude! I demand that you fire him!

9

Roland looks at Billy. Billy rolls his eyes. Roland smiles.

ROLAND

(COMFORTING)

Now, -Mrs. Deagle...I'm sure this isn't that serious. I'm sure an apology would fix things right up. Wouldn't it?
The woman shrugs.' Roland turns to Billy.

ROLAND

Apologize to the woman, Billy.
Billy leans to Roland.

BILLY

(angry whisper)
I. didn't do anything wrong.

AA;

ROLAND

(doesn't care, the customer comes first)
Just apologize.
Roland.leans back and smiles at Mrs. Deagle.
Billy looks at her. He doesn'-t want to do this.
Everyone in the bank is watching him, waiting for him to take a stand.
Billy sighs. He needs his job.

BILLÂ°

(forcing himself)
I'm sorry, Mrs. Deagle.
She nods and smiles. Roland puts his hand on the woman's shoulder.

ROLAND

Come back to my desk, Mrs. Deagle.
I'll personally take care of your

Billy exchanges a smile with Tracy. Gary isn't amused.

GARY

Tracy gives a wave to Billy. She and Gary walk away.

Billy watches. He draws an imaginary sword from his side.

He lifts the sword and lunges forward. At Gary.

Billy sits at a table. Alone. He's reading his book. He eats, but his wide eyes never leave the page. He's fascinated by the story. Like a child. He gets to a funny section.. He laughs.

12.

Gary notices Billy. Gary nudges the others.

GARY

What a nut. Laughin' to himself.

That's the kind of guy who'll shoot

a president.

TRACY

(DEFENSIVE)

I don't see anything wrong with him.

I'm sure he's very intelligent.

GARY

Yeah, and those are the guys who always crack. The real smart guys.

6ti (pause)

He's gotta be a psycho. 26 years old, still lives with his parents. Doesn't have a girlfriend. He's always alone.

Real weirdo.

The others agree. Tracy doesn't. She likes Billy.

Billy continues to read, totally caught up in his book.

His school books scatter over the ground.

Billy stops the car. He gets out and hurries to Pete.

BILLY

Pete...You okay?

"Once And Future King".

BILLY

Dorry smiles. He reaches to a shelf behind the counter.

He removes ,a long object, wrapped in a piece of green cloth.

He rests it on the counter.

15

Billy watches with wide eyes. Pete is curious.

Dorry slowly unwraps the object. Inside the cloth, is a long silver sword, with a gleaming blade and an engraved steel holster.. - Pete is impressed..

DORRY

(to Pete)

It's an authentic replica of an Eleventh Century sword.

Billy's eyes examine every inch of the sword. It's beautiful.

DORRY

I got most of the rust off...But there were a couple spots that wouldn't budge.

Billy runs his finger along the blade.

DORRY

Careful. It's sharp.

A big smile covers Billy's face.- He's in love with the sword.

BILLY

What do I owe you?

DORRY

Two hundred. You can pay me twenty a week.

Billy pulls a twenty from his wallet and pays Dorry. Billy carefully wraps the sword and puts it under his arm.

.{ LYNN

(OFFENDED)

I guess it's none of my business that your clothes are washed and ironed, or that you have a hot meal on the table...

BILLY

No. It isn't. I'm old enough to take care of that stuff myself. I'm old enough to get a place of my own.

LYNN

Don't start that again. Your Father's coming home tonight.

BILLY

Good. I think we should talk about it.

LYNN

It'll put him in a bad mood.

BILLY

No, it'll put you in a bad mood.
Lynn and Billy exchange a glare. They look down at their food.
A few silent, uncomfortable moments pass.

tender approach. She touches his hand.

LYNN

Billy, honey...

BILLY

(moves his hand from hers)
Stop calling me 'honey'.

19.

She smiles and tries again.

LYNN

have to struggle like we did.
We want to help, until you can support yourself as a writer.

BILLY

Bit it's gonna take me another-year to finish my novel. . .and what if it doesn't get published?

LYNN

It'll get published.

BILLY

But what if it doesn't? Are you gonna take care of me until I'm old and grey, working on my 25th unpublished novel?...

LYNN

If it takes that long, yes.

BILLY

(FRUSTRATED)

Don't you understand?.. I've got to 'leave now! I rve got to try and make it on my own now!
Before Lynn.can reply, A VOICE INTERRUPTS.

RAND (O . S .)

Lynn stands and whispers to Billy.

LYNN

Please, let's forget about this.
Just for tonight. Okay?
Billy pauses. Finally gives in and nods.

Mogwai starts to sing, humming in that unearthly falsetto.

BILLY

hates it.

RAND -

Lynn focuses the camera on Billy and Mogwai.

LYNN

Okay smile.
Billy forces a smile. Mogwai still licks his cheek.
Lynn snaps the picture. Flash!

BILLY

Shut up.

Mogwai stops singing. Billy goes back to his writing. Mogwai hops from the shelf. Staying out of the direct light, the creature moves across the desktop and cuddles up to Billy's arm. He jumps back.

BILLY

Get off of me.

Mogwai just looks at him.

BILLY

Get off my desk.

Billy shines the bright desk light into the creature's eyes. Mogwai screams and jumps off the desk, to the floor. Billy looks down at the creature.

Mogwai is bored. The creature leaps up to the bed. It sees the sword. Mogwai lifts one end, examining it. It's too heavy. The sword slips off the bed and falls to the floor.

Billy turns.

Mogwai takes a step back. Guilty. Frightened.

Billy picks up the sword. The handle is chipped.

BILLY

(angry, to Mogwai)

You stupid little...

Billy raises the sword over Mogwai. He's ready to kill the tiny creature.

Mogwai looks up at Billy. The creature is shivering. It is frightened. Its big, green eyes are watery.

BILLY

Hey...Don't give up on your dreams.
They just might come true.
Tracy shrugs and takes a sip of coffee.

BILLY

Can I ask you a personal question?
(Tracy nods)
What is it with you and Gary? Is he your boyfriend?

TRACY

He thinks he is.

BILLY

Do you think he is?

TRACY

No. I think of him more as a friend.
But he thinks of me as a lot more.

PETE

It's neat.

Billy shrugs. Mogwai sees the brownies. The creature hops from Pete's hands, onto the desk. Mogwai grabs a brownie and starts to eat.

PETE

Hey, Billy.. .You think I might be able to borrow it? Just for a night?

BILLY

I dunno, Pete...

PETE

C'mon...My Mom will never know.
I'll hide it under my bed.
Pete reaches down to pick up Mogwai. His hand clumsily knocks over the water bottle.
A few drops of water splash Mogwai.
The creature arches its back and lets out a high pitched scream.
Billy is surprised. Pete takes a step back. Scared.
Mogwai tenses up. The spots on its body that were hit with water begin to bubble... .expand...'
Billy can't believe his eyes.
Mogwai writhes in pain. The spots on its body expand more,
getting bigger, bigger.. .ready to explode.
Billy and Pete stare. Fascinated.
The spots burst.

FOUR NEW CREATURES

popout. Clones of Mogwai.
The spots on Mogwai's body bond together and disappear, as if they were never there.
There are now five identical creatures on the desktop.
Billy and Pete share a shocked glance.
Billy grabs the water bottle. He has to be certain that he wasn't halucinating. He splashes a little more water on one of the new creatures.
The process begins again. The creature's body, contorts.
A few lumps form. The lumps expand until...they burst.

Pete grabs one of the creatures, taking it from the group.

It cries out. In a high, piercing scream.

The other creatures leap at Pete. They grab the creature and bring it back to their group.

PETE

Maybe I won't take one.

The creatures have moved to the brownies. They rip the

BILLY

Dad...We don't know anything about these things.

RAND

We know they're cute.. We know.." they're intelligent. And now we know they multiply by water.

BILLY

Yeah, but isn't that pretty weird? I mean, if I throw water on ^{1/2}Barney over there, we're not gonna get ten copies.
A creature licks Rand's ear. He chuckles.

RAND

All I know, is that I've got a million dollars sitting in my lap.

BILLY

Huh?

RAND

I'm going to market these things.

BILLY

(hates the idea)
Oh, Christ. C'mo'i, Dad...that's ...

RAND

Just imagine the excitement when word gets out. Everyone will want a Mogwai of their very own.

BILLY

Don't you think we should have them checked out first? Just to make sure...

No. If we want to make a big profit, we have to move:fast

RAND

What in the hell?...

Billy picks up a broomstick and pokes one of the things. Won't budge. Hard as a rock.

BILLY

Damn things are stuck to the floor.

Rand picks up a baseball bat. He raises it over his head and swings down, hard. Against the pod.

BILLY

Why did they attack my dog?

ROY

Simple. They're animals. They were hungry. Aside from water, food is their main concern.

RAND

How long until they hatch?

ROY

A week...a month...I really can't say.

BILLY

(STANDS)

I'm not waiting around to find out.

ROY

Billy, don't be hasty...You've stumbled onto a new life form. What comes out of those cocoons could be a major scientific discovery...

RAND

I get back from Seattle on Wednesday. I'll call some construction people. They'll come in next week and cut these things out of the floor.

BILLY

I don't think we should wait. Let's do it ourselves.

RAND

No. It's late. I've got an early plane to catch.
